

Joint Biomedical Engineering — Mechanical Engineering Tenure-Track Faculty Position at Northwestern University

Applicants are invited to apply for a joint tenure-track position in the Departments of Biomedical Engineering and Mechanical Engineering at Northwestern University. Applicants should have research interests that overlap the two Departments and may include, for example, Neuromechanics, Biophysics, Nanomedicine, Cellular Mechanics, and other related areas.

Applicants must have an earned Ph.D. or an equivalent degree and a background in biomedical engineering, mechanical engineering, or a related area. Applicants are expected to establish an internationally recognized and independently funded research program and to demonstrate a strong commitment to teaching in the undergraduate and graduate programs in the McCormick School of Engineering at Northwestern University. The search is focused at the Assistant Professor level, but exceptionally well-qualified applicants may also be considered at higher levels. Applications received before December 15, 2011 will receive full consideration. The starting date for the position is expected to be September 1, 2012.

Application materials should be submitted to the Search Committee Chair, exclusively via the web interface at: <http://facultysearch.mccormick.northwestern.edu/apply/index/NDU=>

Candidates should upload a cover letter, curriculum vita, statement of teaching and statement of research, and the names and contact information of three references.

Northwestern University is an Affirmative Action, Equal Opportunity Employer. Women and individuals in under-represented groups are encouraged to apply. Hiring is contingent upon eligibility to work in the United States.
